Mediation – an alternative approach to dispute resolution

Synopsis: One of the outcomes of the Civil Justice Reform in 2009 is an increasing promotion and use of mediation as an alternative approach to resolve disputes around commercial, financial, buildings management as well as community. This seminar aims at providing a) an overview of current development in mediation; and b) highlights of the process and core skills used in mediation. A role play of a construction service related case will be used as demo.

Speaker: Ms. Ming Rosita Lui, MBA, LL.M (Arb&DR), AHKIArb, MCIArb, MHKIoD, Accredited Mediator

Rosita has diverse exposure in downstream oil industry, covering both local and global roles. Her specialty covers sales and operation, product portfolios and project management, cards and fuels marketing, and network development. While living in Australia, she was working as a strategy consultant focusing on utilities and energy industries. In addition, she was an independent non-executive director for a listed company in Hong Kong, and chaired the Audit Committee for 10 years. She is also involving in mediation training and newsletter editing for the Hong Kong Mediation Centre, and as committee member for the HKU LL.M (Arb&DR) Alumni.
